

2.3. Industrial Era

Introduction

- In sociology, industrial society refers to a society with a modern societal structure.
- The triggering technology for the change from an agricultural to an industrial organization was steam power.

Introduction

- The Industrial Society helps organizations become more effective, productive and customer orientated through a more committed and motivated workforce.
- An Economy based on manual labour was replaced by one dominated by industry and the manufacture of machinery.

Aims of the Industrial Society

- Maximize the country's economy.
- Encourage young people.
- Capture the enthusiasm of the business community.

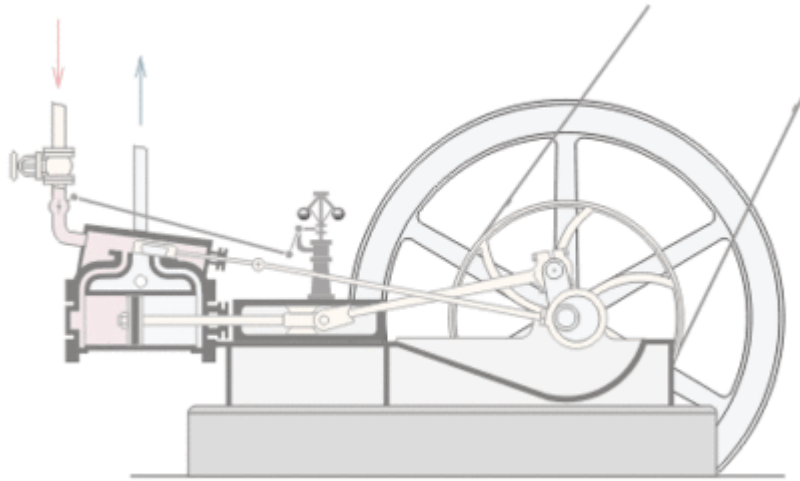

Education Department

- Specialist department within the industrial society and works in all sectors of Education.
- Courses, Conferences.
- Promoting effective leadership and good management.
- Encouraging young people to understand the challenge of industry.
- Promoting understanding between education and industry and encouraging stronger education/industry links.

Innovations

- A Watt steam engine.
- The steam engine propelled the Industrial Revolution in Britain and the world.
- Assembly line

Steam engine

The first piston steam engine

Transport

- Navigable Rivers
- Roads
- Railways
- Canals

Social Effects

- Increased Opportunities
- Under strict Environment
- Population increased

- Child labour
- Public health
- Printing
- Air Pollution

